President's Message

As I sit here writing this column my thoughts wander between hearing the cold winter wind howling outside and the fact that I must soon contact our pool company to remove the winter cover and get the pool ready for another season, my 40th. Sometimes even when the weather is not cooperative, the month of March, to me, always signals the start of spring.

I want to thank Frank Zeoli, Social Events Chair, and all the volunteers that helped make this year's Carnevale celebration the fun evening that it always is. This event is so much more than a fun night out. It is another great cultural connection to our Italian roots.

We are pleased to announce a repeat of a very special event that we did last year, direct from Italy, "An Intimate Evening with Savio De Martino". If you missed this event last year, make plans not to miss it this year. Savio is quite an accomplished artist who has over 10 albums to his credit and many television appearances on RAI, the International Italian Television Network. His performance last year was almost three hours long. All the attendees and I were blown away by Savio's wonderful and powerful voice. Please see the ad inside for further details for this concert on March 14th that you do not want to miss.

We have two more special events coming up in March. Our Saint Patrick and Saint Joseph Mass and Brunch will take place on March 15th. The Family Easter Party will be held in the Caruso Room (second floor) on Sunday, March 29th. It is a fun day which will include lunch with the Easter Bunny and will end with an Easter egg hunt for the kids. Please note the day change from Saturday to Sunday to hopefully minimize conflicts with other Saturday activities. We hope this will allow more parents and grandparents to attend with their families.

On Saturday, April 4th, we will be taking our annual spring trip to Arthur Avenue in the Bronx. This event is almost sold out. If you want to go, call the office as soon as possible to make your reservation. We have less than 10 spots left. The Women's League's annual Mother Daughter Luncheon and Fashion show will be on Sunday, April 26th.

May 28th is the date for the annual Best of the Bronx New York Yankee game and dinner at Arthur Avenue. This year's game will be a repeat of last year's ALDS playoff round vs. the Minnesota Twins (Central Division Champions). I am pleased to announce that we have been able to hold the price at $45 for members and $55 for non-members. Call immediately as these tickets sold out last year in less than an hour.

In closing I want to thank all of our wonderful members who spend countless hours planning these activities for all of us to enjoy. I look forward to seeing many of our members and non-members at these upcoming events.

Lombardy

Lombardy is the heart of Northern Italy, bordered by Switzerland to the north, Piedmont to the west, Emilia Romagna to the south and Veneto and Trentino Alto Adige to the east. In less than one-tenth of the country's area, we find the most populous of the 20 Italian regions.

Its population of almost 10 million people is primarily concentrated in the industrial cities of the upper plains and foothills with secondary concentrations in the rich farmlands in the south. The region comprises the provinces of Bergamo, Brescia, Como, Cremona, Lecco, Lodi, Mantua, Milan (regional capital), Monza, Brianza, Pavia, Sondrio and Varese. Lombardy's largest city, Lombardy, is the leading industrial and commercial region of Italy. The products manufactured here are varied and include cars, trucks, farm equipment, electrical appliances, textiles, furniture, processed foods, chemicals, and leather. Milan is the hub of northern Italy's rail network and has direct rail links with Switzerland, France, and Germany via passes and tunnels through the Alps. Lombardy is linked to other regions of Italy by an excellent system of railroads, highways, and expressways.

Stretching from the Alps to the lowlands of the Po Valley, Lombardy is home to a wide range of landscapes, including the breathtaking mountain chain that boasts the Valchiavenna, Valtellina and the Camonica Valley. The region has a humid subtropical climate with hot summers that can reach temperatures of 95 degrees Fahrenheit (35 degrees Celsius) and cold winters with temperatures that can fall to 32 degrees Fahrenheit (0 degrees Celsius).

Did You Know

Famous people from Lombardy include (chronologically): the Roman philosopher Pliny the Elder, the painter Caravaggio, the luthier Antonio Stradivari, the physicist Alessandro Volta (inventor of the battery), the novelist Alessandro Manzoni, the playwright Dario Fo (Nobel Prize), the conductor Claudio Abbado, the media tycoon and former Prime Minister Silvio Berlusconi, the fashion designer Gianfranco Ferré, the fashion designer Mario Prada, and the Prime Minister Mario Monti.

Winter sports enthusiasts will find no lack of state-of-the-art facilities in the extremely popular resorts of Tonale, Bormio, Livigno and Madesimo. Milan is one of the most visited tourist destinations in the European Union with more than 6 million visitors per year. The city is home to two of Europe's most successful football teams, A.C. Milan and Inter Milan, commonly referred to as Internazionale, and one of Italy's main basketball teams, Olimpia Milano. Milan recently hosted the World's Fair in 2015 and will host the 2026 Winter Olympics.

The charm of the region's lakes is also a great tourist draw. Visitors flock to Lake Garda, while Lake Como (George Clooney and U2's Bono have homes here) and Lake Maggiore are no less beautiful surrounded as they are by stately homes, parks and picturesque small towns.

A Quick History Lesson

Lombardy was inhabited by Celtic people from the 5th century BC and was conquered by Rome after the Second Punic War (218–201 BC) when it became part of Cisalpine Gaul. The region became an important base for the Romans, who founded the cities of Milano, Cremona, Como, Brescia, Lodi and Pavia in their conquest of Europe. The region suffered heavily in the barbarian invasions that ended the western Roman Empire and from 568 to 774 AD, it was the center of the kingdom of the Lombards, a Germanic tribe that settled in northern Italy in the 6th century and ruled Italy for the next 200 years. The Lombard kingdom ended in 774 and Lombardy became part of the empire of Charlemagne, the King of the Franks.

The region's growing prosperity by the 11th century was based on the role of the Po River valley as a transit point for trade between the Mediterranean and the trans-Alpine lands. Milan, Cremona, Brescia and Bergamo became the commercial leaders of Europe at this time.

Milan became the strongest city in Lombardy early in the 14th century and went on to establish its rule over most of the neighboring towns although it had to yield Brescia and Bergamo to Venice and the city of Mantua remained independent. Lombardy lost territory to the Swiss, Venetians, and other neighbors in the early 16th century and in the chaotic wake of the French invasions of Italy, the duchy of Milan came under Spanish Habsburg rule in 1535. Mantua managed to remain independent until 1713, at which time both it and Milan passed to the Austrian Habsburgs. Austrian rule yielded to that of France from 1796 to 1814. In 1815, Lombardy was restored to Austria as part of a newly created Lombardo-Venetian kingdom. In 1859 during the Second War of Italian Independence, the Milanese army revolted against the Austrians in the glorious "Five Days War" and expelled the Austrians from Lombardy which joined newly unified Italy. Milan was chosen to be the capital city of the new Kingdom of Italy.

The end of World War One brought peace to the city but little in the way of prosperity. A noticeable lack of food and increasing unemployment led to social discontent at this time in local history.

The Second World War saw Milan, as an industrial center for Italy, become a major target for bombing raids. Before American troops could arrive to liberate the city, Italian resistance members took over the city and executed Mussolini along with some of his government.

During the post-war decades, Milan attracted waves of immigrants, mainly from the more rural areas of southern Italy. The city subsequently became part of a boom to the local economy and this enabled factories to be rebuilt, along with modern high rises. During the boom years of the 1950's and 1960's, the city grew into being a wealthy and industrial metropolis but this was tempered by social unrest and terrorism during the late sixties and seventies. More recently, developments have included a new financial district called Porta Nuova. Today, Milan is widely regarded as a global capital in industrial design, fashion and architecture. It is a major national and international center of the performing arts, most notably opera. The city hosts the Milan Fashion Week twice a year, one of the most important events in the international fashion system. Milan is synonymous with the Italian high fashion industry as many of the most famous Italian brands, such as Valentino, Gucci, Versace, Prada, Armani and Dolce & Gabbana, are headquartered in the city.

Cuisine and Vino

Lombardy is one of Italy's best culinary hubs, famous for San Pellegrino sparkling water, and iconic dishes like saffron risotto, Osso Bucco, polenta, Scaloppini Milanese, Gorgonzola cheese, minestrone panettone and the almond-flavored Amaretto liqueur from Saronno. In addition to Panettone, Lombardy is also known for other traditional Italian sweets such as Mantua's sbrisolona (crumb cake), nougats from Cremona, amaretti cookies and chocolate confections.

Milan is the city that boasts the highest number of Michelin stars in Italy (along with Rome) and the 9th highest of any European city. Bergamo and the Lago di Garda area also rank among the best places to wine and dine in Italy.

Lombardy is also Italy's leading agricultural area. The region's highly productive agriculture is centered on the irrigated plains of the Po River valley, which produce rice, wheat, corn (maize), sugar beets, and fodder crops for beef and dairy cattle. The higher plains produce cereals, vegetables, fruit trees, and mulberries. The foothill region produces fruit and olives and the Alps afford excellent grazing for cattle, pigs, and sheep.

When it comes to cheese, the salty, crumbly Grana Padano DOP is perhaps the most well-known from this area. Some of the region's other celebrated and delicious cheeses are Gorgonzola, from the town of the same name, Mascarpone, the unpasteurized Lodigiano, Robiola soft cheese and Bel Paese. Lombardy also is the home of the excellent Garda olive oil and asparagus from Rogaro and Drezzo.

Lombardy boasts 27 licensed and protected wine regions, of which bubbly Franciacorta, fresh Lugana white wines made with Turbiana grapes, and elegant Valtellina reds made with Nebbiolo grapes are among some of the most elegant and exciting to taste.

SITES TO SEE

The region has much to offer in terms of its natural, cultural and architectural perspective. There are UNESCO World Heritage Sites at Mantua, once ruled by the powerful Gonzaga family, and Sabbioneta, the defining "ideal city" of the Italian Renaissance; the prehistoric rock paintings (petroglyphs) of the Camonica Valley; the 19th-Century industrial settlement of Crespi d'Adda and, finally, Milan, featuring its stunning white marble Duomo cathedral and the Church of Santa Maria delle Grazie which contains the celebrated Leonardo Da Vinci fresco, The Last Supper.

Milan is the hub and center of the Lombard musical scene. It was the workplace of Giuseppe Verdi, one of the most famous and influential opera composers of the 19th century and boasts a variety of acclaimed theatres, such as the Piccolo Teatro and the Teatro Arcimboldi. However, the most famous is the 1778 Teatro alla Scala, one of the most important and prestigious opera houses in the world.

Beyond the large cities, there are hidden treasures throughout Lombardy. In Cremona, visitors will find the Violin Museum (shop of Antonio Stradivari) and over 150 artists crafting violins and other string instruments. Bergamo is the site of the Accademia Carrara, one of the largest Italian painting galleries, the

WOMEN'S LEAGUE

*W*elcome back ladies,

I hope that everyone is doing well and looking forward to a new and exciting year for the Women's League in 2020. We will be having some very interesting guest speakers this year and I hope that many of you will come and enjoy our social get together as well as learning something new from our speakers.

Our first meeting of the year will be held on Wednesday, March 11th, and our guest speaker will be Dr. DeSemone who will speak to us about diabetes.

Our dinner choices for this meeting will be Corned Beef and Cabbage or Manicotti Marinara, mixed green salad with house dressing, rolls and butter and coffee or tea. Our dessert will be Chocolate Mousse with Whipped Cream. Please be sure get your dinner reservations in to Lynn Indelicato either by telephone at 518-479-3714 or email at lynn.indelicato@yahoo.com by Sunday, March 8th. The cost for the meal is $23. The cancellation policy remains in effect and any cancellation must be made no later than March 10, 2020.

For our next meeting in April, we will be having a dessert cooking demonstration. Sharon Patrei has graciously accepted the challenge to make something delicious for us to eat (and we all know what a great job she does when she bakes). If anyone else would like to join Sharon in making a dessert for us to share, please let me know so that we can add your name to the newsletter article for April. It would be great if we could have a few people participate in making some delicious treats.

Looking forward to seeing all of you on March 11, 2020. Don't forget to plan on attending the Mother-Daughter Luncheon and Fashion Show on April 26, 2020.

Thank you.

Colleoni Chapel and the Teatro Donizetti, dedicated to Bergamo's most illustrious citizen and composer, Gaetano Donizetti. Pavia is the "City of 100 Towers," the Visconti Castle and the renowned University Pavia which is one of one of the oldest universities in the world (1361). It was the sole university in the greater Lombardy region until the end of the 19th century.

Monza is where Italy's Formula One Grand Prix races are held at the Autodromo as well as the Villa Reale, a former royal residence and Cathedral, where the ancient Iron Crown is kept reputedly concealing a nail from the True Cross. Mantova boasts a charming historic center, now a UNESCO World Heritage site, and jaw-dropping architectural sites, including the Palazzo Te, a Mannerist-style estate that hosts internationally renowned art exhibitions, and the Palazzo Ducale, home to stunning frescoes by Renaissance painter Andrea Mantegna. The medieval city of Lodi is characterized by the porticoes in Piazza della Vittoria (home to one of the most beautiful squares in Italia), decorated by the Duomo and the Palazzo Comunale. The Lake Como area is known for its gorgeous villas, such as Villa Olmo, an imposing Neoclassical structure. Lake Garda's (the largest lake in Italy) magnificent scenery was enough to inspire celebrated personages the likes of Catullus, Dante Alighieri, Volta and the writers Alessandro Manzoni, Goethe, Byron and Stendhal. Valcamonica is the location for the world's richest collection of prehistoric petroglyphs, over 140,000 artworks. Then there is the city of Montova with its famous church featuring a crocodile hanging from the rafters, which ancestors thought was a dragon!

Mangia Bene, Viva Bene

Pasta Ricotta

By FRANK ZEOLI

Growing up during Lent, as Catholics, we would abstain from eating meat on Fridays. No meat meant fish. Most of the adults would eat fish but most of the kids wouldn't touch it so my Grandmother needed to make something special for us. Pasta Ricotta became a Good Friday staple for everyone not just the kids.

Prep Time: 5 Minutes
Cook Time: 15 Minutes

Ingredients

- 1lb Spaghetti, Linguine or Angel Hair (your choice)
- 1 1/4 lb Whole Milk Ricotta Cheese
- 1/4 Cup Parmesan Cheese
- Black pepper to taste

Instructions

Bring 3 quarts of salted water to boil in a medium saucepan.

Add pasta to the water and cook until pasta is al dente about 5-6 minutes.

Strain the pasta reserving about 1/2 cup of water to use later.

Add the ricotta cheese, half of the reserved pasta water and the parmesan cheese to the pasta. Mix the pasta until the cheeses make a creamy sauce that coats the pasta thoroughly. (NOTE: If the sauce seems too thick add more pasta water. If the sauce is too loose you can add more ricotta cheese.)

Add pinch of black pepper to taste.

Look for more recipes in the next addition of the SIAMO Qui.
