

ST. PATRICK AND ST. JOSEPH MASS AND BRUNCH

By Jim Sano

On Sunday, March 15th, we were so honored to have Bishop Edward Scharfenberger as the celebrant for our annual St. Patrick's and St. Joseph's Mass and Brunch. This truly was a blessed day and a marvelous event. Our large banquet room was bursting at the seams with the Foundation, for helping to plan and organize the day's events. Thank you to Santa Pasquini, Linda Sciocchetti, and Victor Consiglio for creating our printed program. I want to nearly 200 people in attendance. There were representatives from all the local Italian American organizations, to pay respect and welcome Bishop Edward Scharfenberger to the Capital District Italian American community. I want to personally thank each and every one who attended to make this day so special. In my almost 40 years of being associated as a member, this day will be fondly remembered as one of my favorite events.

make a special mention about Santa Pasquini for her tireless planning and organizing of this event since its inception, well over 25 years ago. Santa, you are to be admired for your dedication to this event.

In addition I wish to extend my special gratitude to the following: Laborers' Local 190, Knights of Columbus #173, CSEA, Anthony Sabatino (Realty USA), and Bricklayers Allied Craftworkers Local #2. I would like to add a very special thank you to the Mallozzi family for their support and donations for this event, in addition to the usual great food and service.

Thank you to Frank Zeoli, President of the IACC

Foundation, Maria LaMorte, President of the Women's League, and Donna Zumbo, Vice President of

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

I want to offer my sincere thanks and gratitude to all our volunteers for the many marvelous events that occurred in March, as well as to all those who came out and supported those events. We set out as a Board of Directors with a most ambitious slate of activities for March and accomplished our goal: to shake off the blahs of a miserable winter. I want to continue this momentum and encourage all our members to please get involved. This enthusiasm can be contagious and we want to keep building on that throughout the year. Please get involved in whatever way best fits your talents, interests, and schedule. Our volunteer members and friends of the IACC step up and keep this organization a vibrant organization.

If you have a particular talent and would like to volunteer please send me an email at jsano15@aol.com and tell me what talents you want to share with us. We will put them to good use.

April 22nd is Administrative Professionals' Day and I want to extend a special thank you to our office staff of Nancy Furnia and Linda Sciocchetti for the wonderful job they do throughout the year. I want them to know how much we all appreciate them.

In closing, I want to wish all a fun-filled, blessed and Happy Easter, surrounded by the love of your families.

Jim Sano, President

IACC Foundation Book Club

Falling In Love With Italy---Twice

On Thursday, April 16th the book club will discuss Head Over Heel: Seduced By Southern Italy, a light-hearted contemporary memoir in which the author, Chris Harrison, tells the story of meeting a beautiful Italian woman, Daniela, falling in love with her, and then with her village in Puglia. Harrison shares tales from his two years of courtship with Daniela, whom he met in Ireland and then followed home to the heel of the boot. Daniela, of course, comes from one of those small Italian towns with gorgeous scenery, peculiar characters, and memorable encounters. Harrison, an Australian who does an excellent job of vividly painting each scene from ridiculous meetings with the carabinieri to the over-the-top religious festivals so prevalent in Italian communities. Harrison is a keen observer and brilliant writer. As he repeatedly acknowledges, his portrayal of southern Italians is never condescending though his reality and frames of references are simply different from theirs. They will be different from ours as well. We will discuss Head Over Heel on Thursday, April 16th, at 7:00 P.M., and no doubt enjoy Harrison's amusing take on the charming Southern Italian peculiarities we know well.

The Book Club meets at 7:00 P.M. at the IACC and is free and open to the public. For further information contact Dick Ognibene at rtognibene@nycap.rr.com or at 372-4919.

IACC Foundation News

The Foundation has had an exciting month. On March 15th our annual St. Patrick's and St. Joseph's Mass welcomed Bishop Scharfenberger with a crowd of almost 200 people. It was a tremendously successful event and fundraiser for the Foundation. Our next event, on March 29th is a film screening and panel discussion of the documentary The Neighborhood that Disappeared. The author and producer, as well as several IACC members who were featured in the documentary, will be on hand to discuss the making of the film and answer questions from the audience.

I am happy to announce two new great events that are being planned. The first will be our annual St. Anthony's Mass on Sunday, June 14th. This year we will follow up the Mass with an authentic Sunday Dinner in the Pavilion. Ferragosto 2015, the second event, will be held on the Pavilion Grounds on August 15th. This traditional Italian holiday, held on the Feast of the Assumption, will feature food, music, games, and a bonfire to end the evening. More information on both of these events will follow in the next issue of the Siamo Qui. Stay tuned.

In addition, I have appointed a new Pavilion Committee to oversee the Pavilion's numerous events. I have divided the committee into three very important parts. I am very grateful to Sandrina (Maria) DeNitto and her committee of Gail Tarantino, Mary Lou Marando, Dino Barbato, and Pina Tirino for handling the food and kitchen responsibilities. Nick Mancini and his committee of Al Sacca, John Ritz, Angelo Culmo, and Carlo Recupero will be handling the maintenance and grounds of our Pavilion. Finally, Donna Zumbo and Sharon Patrei will be overseeing all Pavilion rentals. I wish to thank them all for their commitment and dedication to the Pavilion and to the Foundation.

Finding Our Immigrant Ancestry by Angelo F. Coniglio

PRIMARY RECORDS

Passports, death certificates, headstones, or military records may give a birth date for your ancestor. However, all of these are secondary records. That is, they were made on documents or items created well after a child's birth, sometimes decades later. Censuses and passenger manifests often give a person's age, from which a birth year can be calculated. These, too, are secondary records of birth.

A primary record is one made at, or shortly after, the event it documents. The Italian and Sicilian church and civil records I have discussed are primary records. A person's birth record, made in the town's permanent register, when his father reported the particulars of birth, is a primary record. The birth date on the person's tombstone is a "secondary record": the date was told to someone and inscribed it on the stone. There is no absolute proof on the stone that the date is correct. A marriage record made at the time of the marriage is a primary record of the marriage. However, if it gives birth dates, the marriage record is a secondary record of birth.

One source of primary records is the Mormon Church, which has made micro-film copies of original records from hundreds of towns and parishes. These are photocopies of original records, and, as such, carry the same weight for genealogy purposes. (Unless specifically noted, I am referring to records used for genealogical research. Records that are needed for legal purposes usually require some type of certification from the original issuing authority.) Micro-films must be rented for viewing at a local Mormon FamilySearch Center (FSC). Covered towns usually have civil records from 1820 through 1920. The free site <https://familysearch.org> has on-line records for many towns, as does the subscription site Ancestry.com, but generally only for the years between 1866 and 1910. If the information you want is not available on micro-film or on-line, you may have to contact the towns or churches by phone, mail, e-mail, by personal visits, or by having a friend or paid representative initiate the contact.

Most Italian and Sicilian comuni, or towns, have an Anagrafe (Registry Office) in the Municipio (Town Hall) or nearby. There the Registri (Registers) of civil records, dating back to the early 1800s, are kept, and are available for perusal by the public. Accessibility varies by town.

Some will provide photocopies of the records or allow you to take photos with your own camera. Others do not and you may have to hand-copy the desired information. For certified proof of a birth (for a fee), the town clerk will provide a stamped estratto certificate (certified extract). If you are interested in records for genealogical purposes, it is important to recognize that, while it is a legal document, an extract is a derivative record that gives minimum detail: name and birth date of the child and the names of parents. The actual document, bound in the register, usually gives much more information about the child and family. This should be copied, even if by hand.

It could be argued that church baptism records are not primary records of birth. Their purpose was obviously religious, recording an important sacrament. However, before civil records were kept, the church was often the closest thing to a civil authority and the only record indicating the existence of a new life was the baptismal record. As with civil records, no "certificate" was given out. The administration of the sacrament was recorded in a register. This gave the date of the baptism and often noted when the child had been born. Besides naming the child, parents and godparents, and the presiding priest, no other information was given. When the baptism record gave the date of birth, especially before civil records were kept, I consider it to be a primary record of birth. Before the early 1800s, since infant mortality was great, it was church policy to baptize newborns as soon as possible. A baptism record may not prove your ancestor's exact date of birth, but it does prove that he or she was born, probably within a week of the baptism date.

Repositories of church records are more variable than those of civil documents. For some towns, they are on Mormon micro-film, often starting in the 1500s or 1600s. In most cases they are kept in individual churches, parish centers, or diocesan headquarters, and must be accessed by phone, mail, or personal visits.

Coniglio is the author of the book The Lady of the Wheel, inspired by his Sicilian research. You may order the paperback or the Kindle version at <http://amzn.to/racalmuto>. Coniglio's web page at bit.ly/AFCGen has helpful hints on genealogical research. If you have genealogy questions or would like him to lecture to your club or group, e-mail him at genealogytips@aol.com.

Women's League

Ciao Ladies,

Happy Spring!! It's the first day of spring and the weatherman is predicting SNOW!! I really hope it will stay to the south and give us a break.

We had a wonderful event in March, the St. Joseph/St. Patrick Mass and Brunch. Bishop Edward Scharfenberger was a charming and inspirational speaker at Mass and a delightful guest at the brunch. His parting message was a request to simply ask someone to consider a vocation of service to the church. We were all so grateful to have shared the morning with the Bishop and to have introduced him to our site, so that he will feel comfortable to join us at other future events. Many thanks to Santa Pasquini whose dedication to this event is widely known.

I was unable to attend last month's WL meeting, but Carolina and Donna played Bingo with the attendees and awarded Lottery tickets to the winners.

Next month's meeting will be April 8th at 6:30 P.M. Our dinner choices are as follows: Bistro Steak, Chicken Francese, or Rigatoni with Alfredo and Broccoli. Salad will come first and dessert will be a Fruit Tart. The cost remains $20. Please contact Donna Zumbo at dzumbo13@hotmail.com or 424-7463 to reserve (or cancel) considerately.

The theme of our April meeting is Primavera - Spring Makeover. We will offer professional makeup and hair ideas to refresh our looks for the warm weather to come. We will also offer an array of methods to use a scarf to accent or highlight a look or even hide a problem.

Let's get the gardening tools out and hope to soon be back outside in the sun.

Ci vediamo... see you soon,

Maria La Morte, Women's League President
